

Glenwood Combination Coal And Gas Range.

The Cabinet Glenwood "Makes Cooking Easy."

Reynolds & Son, Barre, Vt.

The Gas Range Attachment has three burners in top, a large oven and a handy compartment for broiling, fitted with dripping-pan and rack. The heat in both Coal and Gas ovens is registered by the wonderful Glenwood Patent Oven Heat Indicator which shows at a glance when to put food in oven. Being very compact it saves room in the kitchen.

If a large amount of baking is required, both the coal and gas ovens can be operated at the same time, using one for meats and the other for pastry.

LITTLE GIRL WAS CRUSHED

Alice Sparks, Aged 13, Killed on Railroad

WHILE PICKING UP COAL

Engine Was "Kicking" Cars Together in Burlington Yard and She Was Caught Between Two, Her Back Being Broken.

Burlington, March 31.—Alice Sparks, aged 13, was killed in the railroad yard shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning by being caught between the bumpers of two coal cars which crushed her to death.

The girl was picking up coal at the time and the scene of her operations was between two cars west of the engine at the foot of North street which is soon to be made into Depot street. The coal cars were picking up those which drop off the flat cars. Alice was between the rails busy about her occupation and unmindful of the fact that an engine was "kicking" the cars together. She must have had some slight warning of what was coming for she apparently straightened up just as the bumpers of the two cars came together and they caught her in the chest and back, crushing out her life instantly. Her backbone was broken and also her right arm, with dreadful internal injuries.

Health Officer Dalton and Officers Cosgrove and Buchner went to the spot at once and the usual directions were made for the removal of the body.

The victim, Dr. Dalton says, was instantly killed. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sparks of North Bend street. Her father is an employee of the Shepard & Morse concern. Besides her parents, four sisters survive.

COUPLE'S DEAD BODIES FOUND IN A FIELD.

Married Man and Sweetheart Found Slain in the Suburbs of Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., March 31.—The romance of a Cleveland school teacher's love for a married man was disclosed yesterday by the discovery of the couple's dead bodies in a field on Cedar Heights, a fashionable suburb. Both had been shot through the heart. Deputy Coroner Harry McNeil believes the man shot the woman and then committed suicide. Failure to find any weapon leads some to believe both were murdered.

The dead woman was Miss Lena Zeichmann, 31, a teacher. The man was Carl Bernthaler, a music teacher, well known to musicians. Mrs. Bernthaler knew the girl was in love with the musician, but maintained that Bernthaler cared nothing for Miss Zeichmann.

CAMPBELL-BANNERMAN IS SLOWLY LOSING STRENGTH

Premier Has Diabetes, Apparently in Its Incurable Form.

London, March 31.—The condition of Premier Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman shows no marked change for the worse, but the diabetes, which apparently is in its incurable form, and from which the patient is suffering, is making gradual inroads upon his reserve vitality.

The bulletin issued yesterday morning said: "The prime minister had a quiet day Sunday and a fairly good night. His condition is weak, but there is no marked change in his condition."

JACQUES MURDER TRIAL BEGINS.

He Is Charged With Killing Mary Eddy at Greenville, R. I.

Providence, R. I., March 31.—The trial of Earl Jacques, who has been indicted by the grand jury on the charge of murdering Miss Mary Eddy, a mill girl, on a lonely Greenville road Jan. 3, began in the superior court house here yesterday. Mary Eddy was returning from her work at the Greenville woolen mills, when within a few hundred yards of her boarding house someone jumped over a stone wall which bordered the lonely road and in the dusk of the evening clutched the woman twice over her head. Jacques, it is said, made a confession to the Providence police.

The building was occupied by firms carrying much inflammable material in stock, such as paint and oils, glue and woolen waste. The loss will amount to about $75,000.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

For proof of this statement read the following letters.

Mrs. Barbara Base, of Kingman, Kansas, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For eight years I suffered from the most severe form of female troubles and was told that an operation was my only hope of recovery. I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has saved my life and made me a well woman."

Mrs. Arthur R. House, of Church Road, Moorestown, N. J., writes:

"I feel it is my duty to let people know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered from female troubles, and last March my physician decided that an operation was necessary. My husband objected, and urged me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and to-day I am well and strong."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, and backache.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

DUKE CONTINUES COURT BY WIRELESS.

Five Messages to Miss Elkins—Proposal Was Made Last Summer.

Washington, March 31.—Five wireless telegrams came to Miss Katharine Elkins from the Duke of the Abruzzi sailed for Europe. Their contents, of course, have not divulged outside the immediate family circle, and nobody has had the temerity to make inquiries. To her friends who seek information about the duke's suit Miss Elkins returns the reply: "I have nothing to say."

But the fact of the wireless messages chance to come out, and everybody who is interested in the romance—and everybody in Washington is interested—draws his own conclusions. After the duke has his audience with the King several cablegrams are expected.

Neither Senator nor Mrs. Elkins makes any further effort to conceal the truth about Prince Luigi's intentions. It is now known that the proposal for the hand of their daughter was submitted to them nearly a year ago, and resubmitted on the occasion of the recent visit. That the young people are sincerely attached to each other, no one who saw them together in Washington doubts for a moment.

Before leaving Washington the Duke of the Abruzzi confided to an American friend that he expected to return, stating still further that when he again came to Washington his friends would know the reason why.

The statement made that the failure to announce the engagement is owing to a disagreement as to faith or fortune of the possible duchess is totally without foundation.

ANDREWS OUT OF JEROME INQUIRY.

Resigns as Commissioner to Hear the Charges—Finds The Job Too Long.

Albany, N. Y., March 31.—Charles Andrews, former chief judge of the court of appeals, has resigned as commissioner to take testimony for Gov. Hughes in the matter of charges against Dist. Atty. Jerome. Judge Andrews in his letter of resignation, alludes to the fact that he was reluctant to accept the appointment, as he planned to go abroad in June. He says that although the hearing began on March 26, only one of the 22 charges has been taken up and the evidence for the defense on this one charge has not been entered on. As he sees no likelihood of completing the work before June, he thinks he should resign as commissioner.

VOTE BY TELEPATHY.

Illinois Women Hope Thus to Crush the Demon Rum.

Aurora, Ill., March 31.—Never before was woman's influence the factor that it will be in the anti-saloon struggle to be decided in Illinois on April 7, according to Mrs. Marshall Miller of Jacksonville, who spoke to 3,000 Aurora women Sunday night.

In the belief that telepathy is a source of strength, "thought waves" generated by the minds of thousands of women will be sent out to combat the forces of those of lower ideals.

"When the Illinois voter walks to the polls on April 7 to cast a ballot to maintain or do away with the saloon, his hearing, sight and emotions will be wrought upon directly or indirectly by more than a half million women force to the liquor traffic," said Mrs. Miller. Mrs. Miller expects great results.

TO IGNORE MESSAGES

Ask Washington to Regard Communication From Berlin

IF WERE NEVER SENT

At the Request of William—Baron Von Sternburg Asked by the German Foreign Office to Thus Address the President.

Berlin, March 31.—In its communication to Baron von Sternburg, the German ambassador at Washington regarding the acceptance of Dr. David Jayne Hill as ambassador to Germany in succession of Charamagne Tower, the foreign office directed Baron von Sternburg to say to President Roosevelt, among other things, that Emperor William hoped the president would consider the message forwarded through Mr. Tower and A. L. Griescom, the American ambassador to Italy, as not sent.

LONDON PAPERS SHY.

A Bit Chary of Commenting Upon Hill Incident.

London, March 31.—The London newspapers have been chary of commenting on the matter of the acceptance by Berlin of Dr. David Jayne Hill as American ambassador, largely because the many contradictory official, semi-official and alleged inspired statements from the German foreign office during the last week have mystified them.

Almost all the English correspondents at Berlin accepted the foreign office statements that the "government" had not objected to Dr. Hill and they advanced the mistaken theory that Ambassador Tower was scheming to retain his post. The comments thus far display a considerable ignorance of the facts.

The Globe revives the old accusation of "shilly shally diplomacy" against the United States and says: "They quite forget that the other nations sometimes take offense at their casual way of conducting affairs. If Emperor William does withdraw his objection he will have made a great mistake, for in any international matter it does not do to play fast and loose."

HE BLAMES KING.

Norton Says Financier Brought About His Arrest.

Hartford, Ct., March 31.—Lucius B. Norton, president and treasurer of the National Mercantile company of this city, who was arrested Saturday charged with the embezzlement of $852 from the company and who is held under $10,000 for a hearing before the police court on April 4, says that he believes the proceedings were brought by Cardenio F. King of Boston to secure money.

In an interview Norton says: "The occasion of this criminal procedure at this time is on account of the motion made by me before Chief Justice Henry M. Peabody of the supreme judicial court in Cumberland county, Maine, which is to be heard in chambers Tuesday, relative to having the injunction against the National Mercantile company dissolved, the receiver, Orrin S. Fairfield of Somersworth, N. H., discharged, and the bill in equity, brought by C. F. King, dismissed before the bill is returned, in court in Kennebec county, April 7."

Norton says he will go to Maine, asking that the receivers be dismissed, representing not only the 3,000 shares of stock which he himself owns, but the additional shares owned by others. C. F. King, he said, was on the books as owning 10 shares and 100 auxiliary shares, but as they do not appear in his estate, which is now in the hands of a receiver, he could now legally be held to be a stockholder.

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach, too, digestive and curative tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. It is not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the wash and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scurfous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distress in stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms and conditions, as shown by the writing of leading physicians, are Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Kidney and Bladder Cure. These two medicines, when taken together, will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will but mail a postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his book of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicines and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them.

A Feminine Deficiency.

(Original.)

When I asked my present father-in-law for Dora he talked to me very plainly about her. He said she was a dear, good girl and had been brought up to bear any household responsibility that might devolve upon her. She could cook and sew and knew very well how to manage servants. He had also tried to inculcate in her something of ordinary business methods. In one thing he admitted he had failed—he had found it impossible to teach his daughter anything about keeping a bank account. He excused her, however, by saying that there was something in the female mind incompatible with check and deposit books. He had tried the same thing with Dora's mother and after many explanations had found that his instructions had been in vain. She had once inadvertently destroyed a check he had given her and supposed that the money it represented was a dead loss.

I told him that I was sure I could make the matter clear in Dora's mind, that I considered it essential for a woman to understand how to use a bank and I would not rest till I had made my wife entirely at home in keeping her account. Dora and I had not been married long before I opened a bank account in her name for our household funds and gave my wife instructions how to keep it. I soon taught her to draw a check and make a deposit. Sometimes she could make her check book balance fully with her deposit book balance, and sometimes she couldn't. But what surprised me most was that at times when there were many corrections to be made in the check book before it would agree with the deposit book she would have it all beautifully straightened out. Then when the matter was very simple and I asked her to make them agree while I was watching her she couldn't do it. She said I bothered her, but I afterward learned that she was paying a bank clerk to do these jobs for her.

I did not know anything of this when I went off on a trip. Indeed, I supposed she had become quite proficient. I had been away a week when I found it necessary to make a further trip rendering a longer absence necessary. Needing more funds, I thought it a good opportunity to test Dora's financial ability. I telegraphed her to send me a hundred dollars. I felt so sure that she would acquit herself well in the matter that I bought her a pretty finger ring to take home as a token of my appreciation.

In twelve hours after sending my dispatch I received a telegram from her begging me to come home at once. Confident that some terrible calamity had happened, I took the first train. Driving furiously from the station to

WOMAN'S WORLD

HOMEMADE BEAN BAGS.

Game Still Retains a Fair Degree of Popularity.

While the safe and comfortable bean bag has been sidetracked to some extent in favor of more strenuous forms of diversion, it still retains a fair degree of popularity.

In one family where the bean bag retains its old time prestige a German auntie made for the little folk a set of bags that has been much admired and is highly appreciated. The set consists of four bean bags, two round ones and two square ones, which are all rather small, and all crocheted with mercerized thread in the respective flag colors of different nationalities and made as follows:

United States.—A round bag. Begin in center and crocheted round and round—seven rows in red, seven in white, seven in blue. The reverse side crocheted in same way—twenty-one rows—in blue. The two round sides of bag are crocheted together and finished with tiny narrow scalloped edge.

Spain.—A square bag. Four rows, fifty stitches in length; in yellow, three rows of red, seven rows of yellow, three of red and four of yellow. The reverse side in solid red.

Germany.—A round bag. Seven rows of black, seven of white and seven of red, with a black reverse side.

Italy.—A square bag of same dimensions as the Spanish one. Seven rows of red, fifty stitches long; seven of white and seven of green; reverse side of plain green. The bags should be crocheted closely to admit of being filled with small sized beans and should not be filled very full.

The nationalities represented in a set could vary with individual taste, and a set could consist of two, three, five or even seven bean bags. But whatever combination is chosen the multi-colored bean bags make an attractive showing and a charming present, while they are in the making an easily handled and pleasing sort of fancy work.

If you have something to give, you will be wanted. And this is true not of money alone. One who sees the humorous side can help others to see it brings his welcome with him. A sympathetic nature, responding readily to every appeal, rejoicing in the joy of others and grieving in their grief, brings bounty with it. Only the self engrossed have nothing to give away.

Don't forget that birth and breeding show up more clearly at the dinner table than at any other time. As a man eats, so he is.

An Ancient Exposition. Perhaps the first industrial exposition on record was held in 1550 in the Rathaus of Nuremberg. A catalogue published at the time thus states the purpose of the exposition: "It shall bring before the public all innovations in the trade of the whole world in modern times, together with domestic art productions."

Mutton. The woolly taste in mutton is said to be due to slow dressing of the carcass.

The Previous Fish Story.

For thousands of years they have squabbled.

And kept up continual strife. Deciding on how the world started. The primal inception of life. And even in this day of science The question they still have to beg Of if the egg came from the chicken, Or if the chick came from the egg.

But there is a puzzle more searching. Compared to which effort is but nil—The world's mysterious origin still; For be it in far Arctic waters, Or tropics, whichever you wish, We note that the fish story always Precedes the appearance of fish.
